Summary of Information

The Urban Food Policy Council (Council) works to advance initiatives and actions that increase food access within the City of Winston-Salem. The Council supports the City and advocates for policies that promote a healthy local food system, with the overarching goal of improving community health through measures such as addressing food insecurity.

As the scope of the Council's work has evolved over time, it is necessary to revisit and revise its duties and structure to ensure alignment with its current role and priorities. Accordingly, amendments to the existing ordinance governing the Council are proposed.

First, it is recommended that the ordinance be amended to remove the duty requiring collaboration with the Forsyth Community Food Consortium on strengthening the local food system. This group is no longer functionally active. Second, it is proposed that references to the Dixie Classic Farmers Market and the Liberty Street Vendor's Market be removed from the clause directing the Council to make recommendations regarding the enhancement of the use and operation of food-focused City facilities.

Consistent with these proposed changes, it is further recommended that the designated Council seat for a member of the Forsyth Community Food Consortium Advisory Council be removed from the ordinance.
